Website Design Assignment

Organic Food Company | Creativity Assessment

Candidate	Chandni
Role being assessed	Website Designer / Creative
Duration	3 days from the time this brief is shared
Focus of assessment	Creativity, visual thinking, brand storytelling

1. Objective

Design a complete, original website for a fictional organic food company. This assignment is meant to see how you think creatively: how you build a brand feel, tell a story, and turn it into a clean, usable website. There is no single right answer. We want to see your own ideas.

2. The Brief

An organic food company wants to move from selling at local farmers' markets to selling online across India. They sell fresh produce, cold-pressed oils, millets and grains, honey, spices and healthy snacks. Their customers are health-conscious families, young professionals and gifting buyers who care where food comes from.

What you need to decide yourself

- Company name, logo idea and tagline (create your own; do not copy a real brand)
- Brand personality (for example earthy, premium, playful, minimal, rustic-modern)
- Colour palette, typography and photography / illustration style
- The one big idea that makes this website feel different from a typical grocery site

3. What to Deliver

A. Website design (mandatory)

Design the following pages. Desktop is required; mobile versions of the Home page and one product page are also required.

- Home page: hero section, brand promise, featured products, how it's grown / sourced, testimonials, newsletter signup
- Shop / Product listing page: categories, filters, product cards
- Product detail page: images, price, benefits, origin story, reviews, add to cart
- Our Story / Farmers page: the brand's story, farm-to-table journey, certifications
- Contact / Bulk orders page: enquiry form for gifting and wholesale

B. Brand mini-kit (mandatory)

- Logo concept, colour palette and font pairing on one page
- Two sample product packaging or label ideas

C. Short design note (mandatory, max 1 page)

Explain your idea in simple words: who the website is for, why you chose this look, and what makes it unique.

D. Bonus (optional, will be appreciated)

- A working prototype built in Figma, Webflow, WordPress, Framer, or code (HTML/CSS/React)
- Small interactions or animations that support the story (for example a seed-to-shelf scroll story)
- A social media post or banner set in the same brand style

4. Guidelines

- Use any tool you are comfortable with: Figma, Canva, Adobe XD, Photoshop, Webflow, WordPress, or code.
- Use only free or properly licensed images, icons and fonts (Unsplash, Pexels, Google Fonts, etc.). AI-generated images are allowed, but mention where you used them.
- Do not copy or lightly modify an existing website or template. Take inspiration, but the final design must be your own thinking.
- Think like a customer. Is it easy to find, understand and buy a product?
- Keep the copy realistic. Avoid lorem ipsum wherever possible; write short, believable headlines and product text.

5. Evaluation Criteria

Criteria	What we look for	Weight
Creativity & originality	A fresh concept, unique brand feel, not a generic template look	25%
Visual design	Layout, colour, typography, spacing, consistent styling	20%
Brand storytelling & copy	Does the site communicate trust, freshness and the farm-to-table story?	15%
User experience	Clear navigation, logical page flow, easy path to purchase	15%
Responsiveness	Quality of the mobile design / adaptability	10%
Execution & polish	Attention to detail, finished look, prototype quality	10%
Design note & presentation	Clarity of thought, how well you explain your choices	5%

6. Submission

1. Share your design as a Figma link (set to view access), a live link, or a PDF export of all pages.
2. Include the brand mini-kit and the one-page design note.
3. Mention the tools and any external resources you used.
4. Submit before the deadline. Be ready for a 10-15 minute walkthrough where you explain your work.

All the best. Show us how you think!
